

City of Oslo

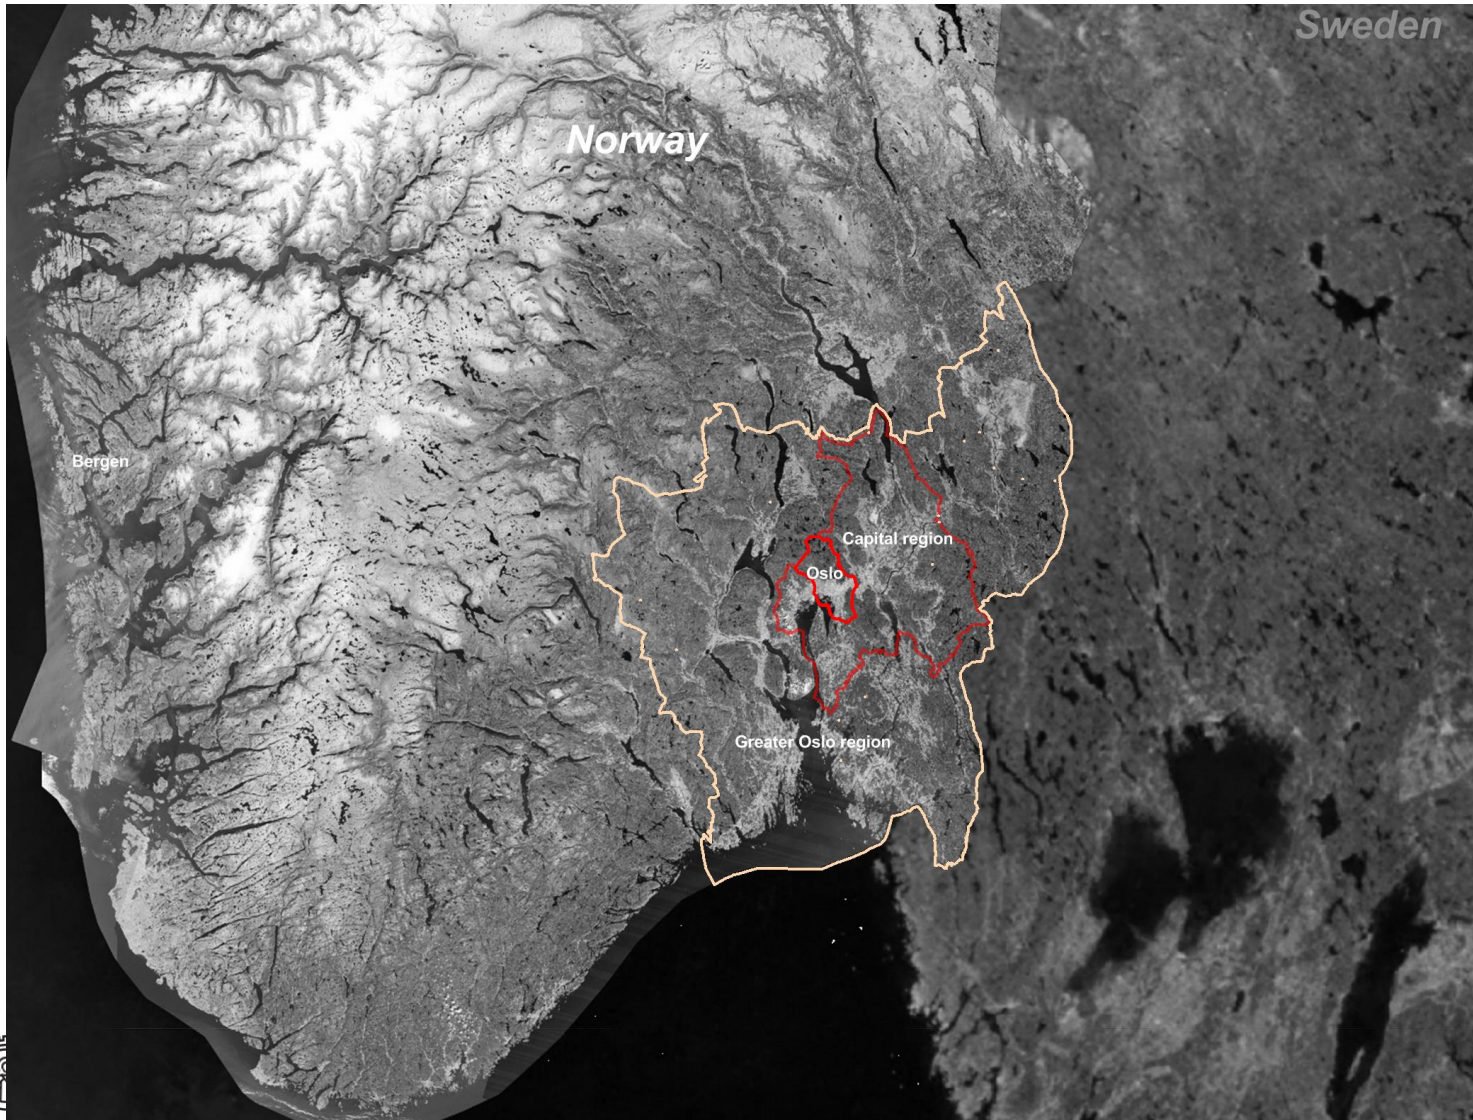

Agency for Planning and Building Services

Oslo Municipality and our master plan

Hanne Sophie Solhaug, director, department of urban development

Presentation for AUUP 13. June 2022

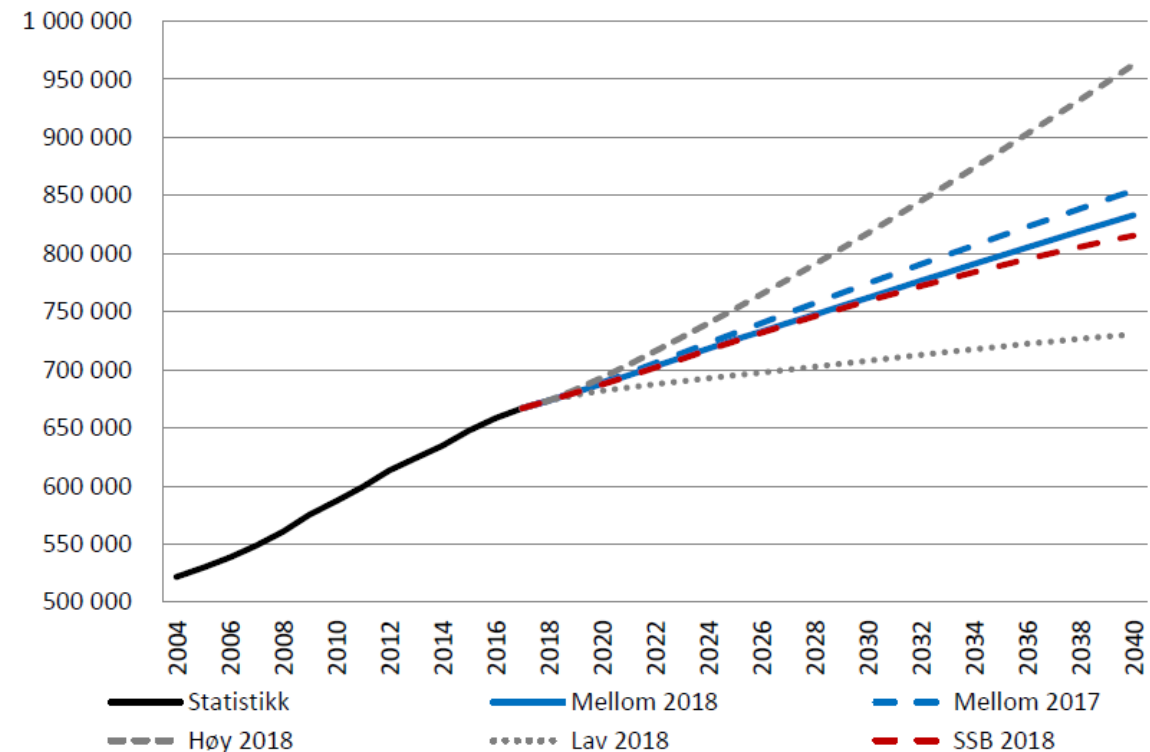

Oslo in a regional context:

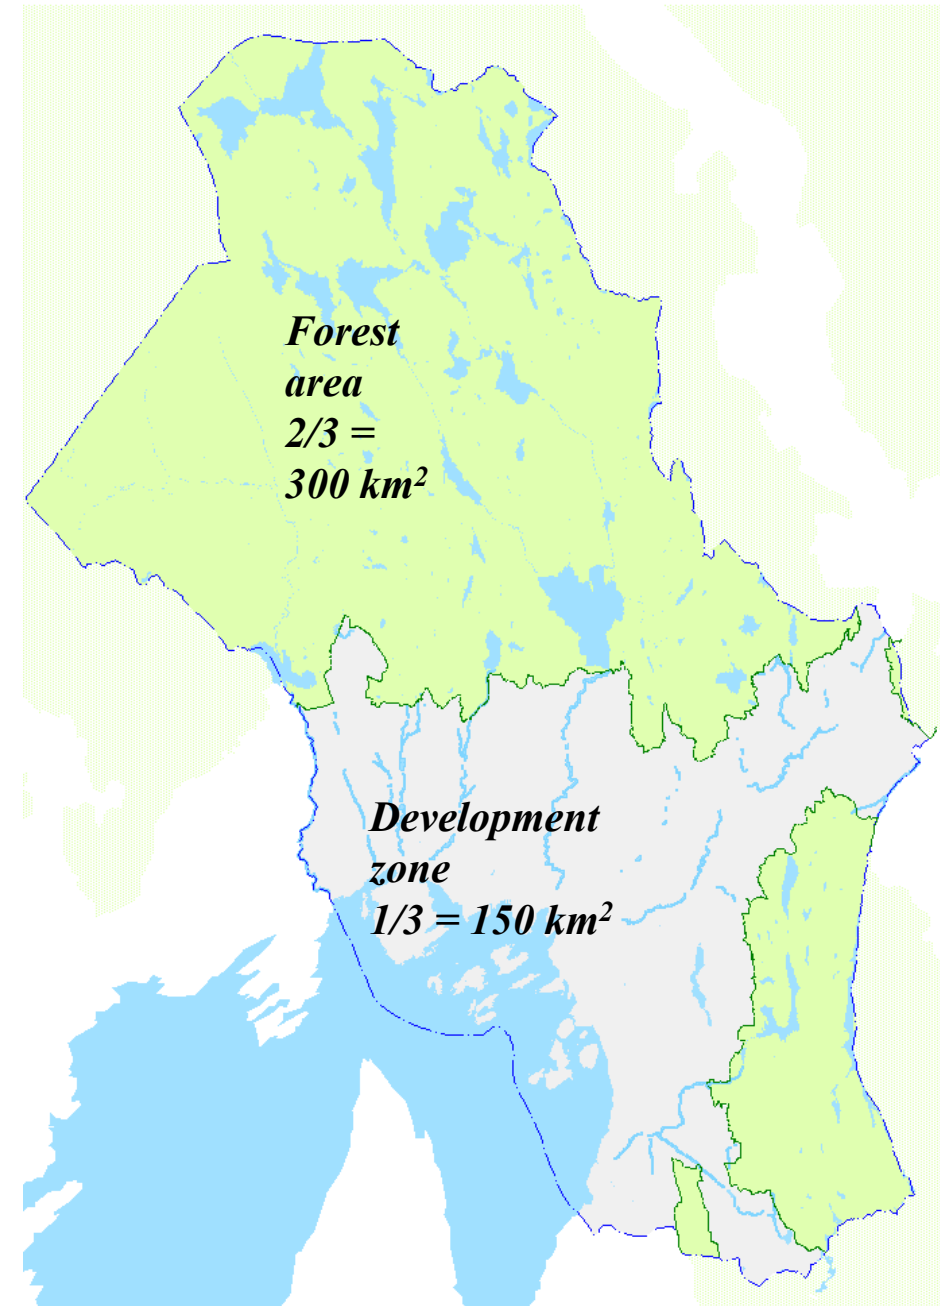

- ▶ Oslo:
680 000 inhabitants;
- ▶ capital region:
1.3 mil. inhabitants;
- ▶ Greater Oslo:
1.9 mil. inhabitants.

Population growth

- Oslo has undergone major population growth over the last 15–20 years, with almost 15,000 more inhabitants in some years.
- Currently at 680 000 inhabitants
- The predicted population in 2040 is 833,000 inhabitants

The Municipality of Oslo

The blue and the green and the city in between

The new Municipal Masterplan – approved 2019

► The capital – attractive and competitive:

- innovative, green and diverse business activities, with room for a range of different workplaces.
- urban qualities in new areas;
- public spaces for everyone;

► The Zero Emissions City – smart and green:

- strengthened TOD-based urban development;
- downscaling of the use of cars, the Car-Free Liveability Programme;
- climate-smart construction and energy solutions.

► The everyday city – neighbourhood qualities:

- building on place identities and neighbourhood qualities;
- variety in housing types and sizes available;
- short distances for the everyday needs (local stores, kindergarten i.e.)

Transport oriented urban development strategy

New residential dwellings 2000 - 2018

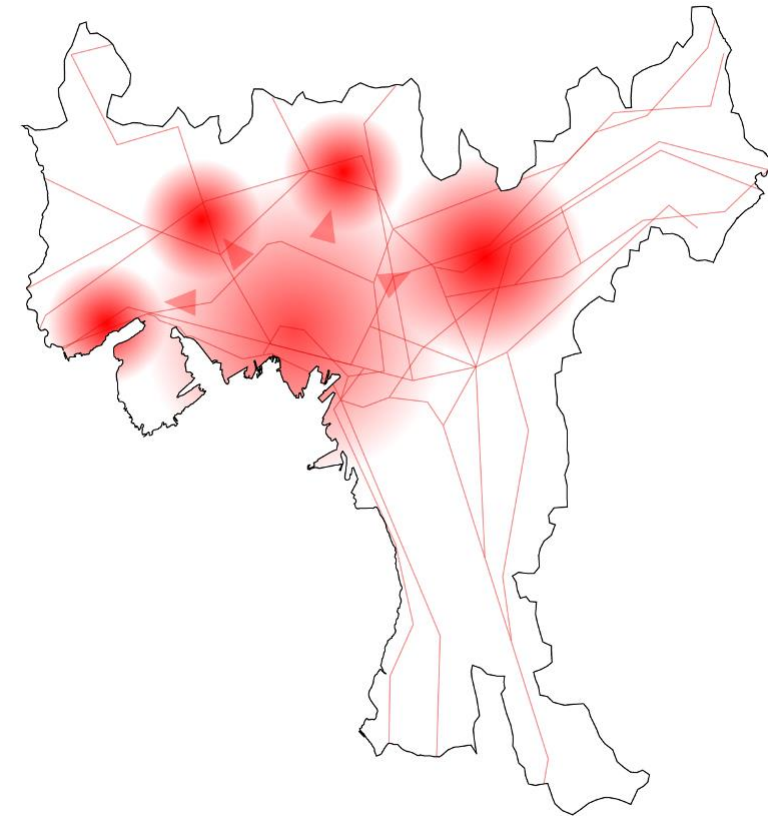

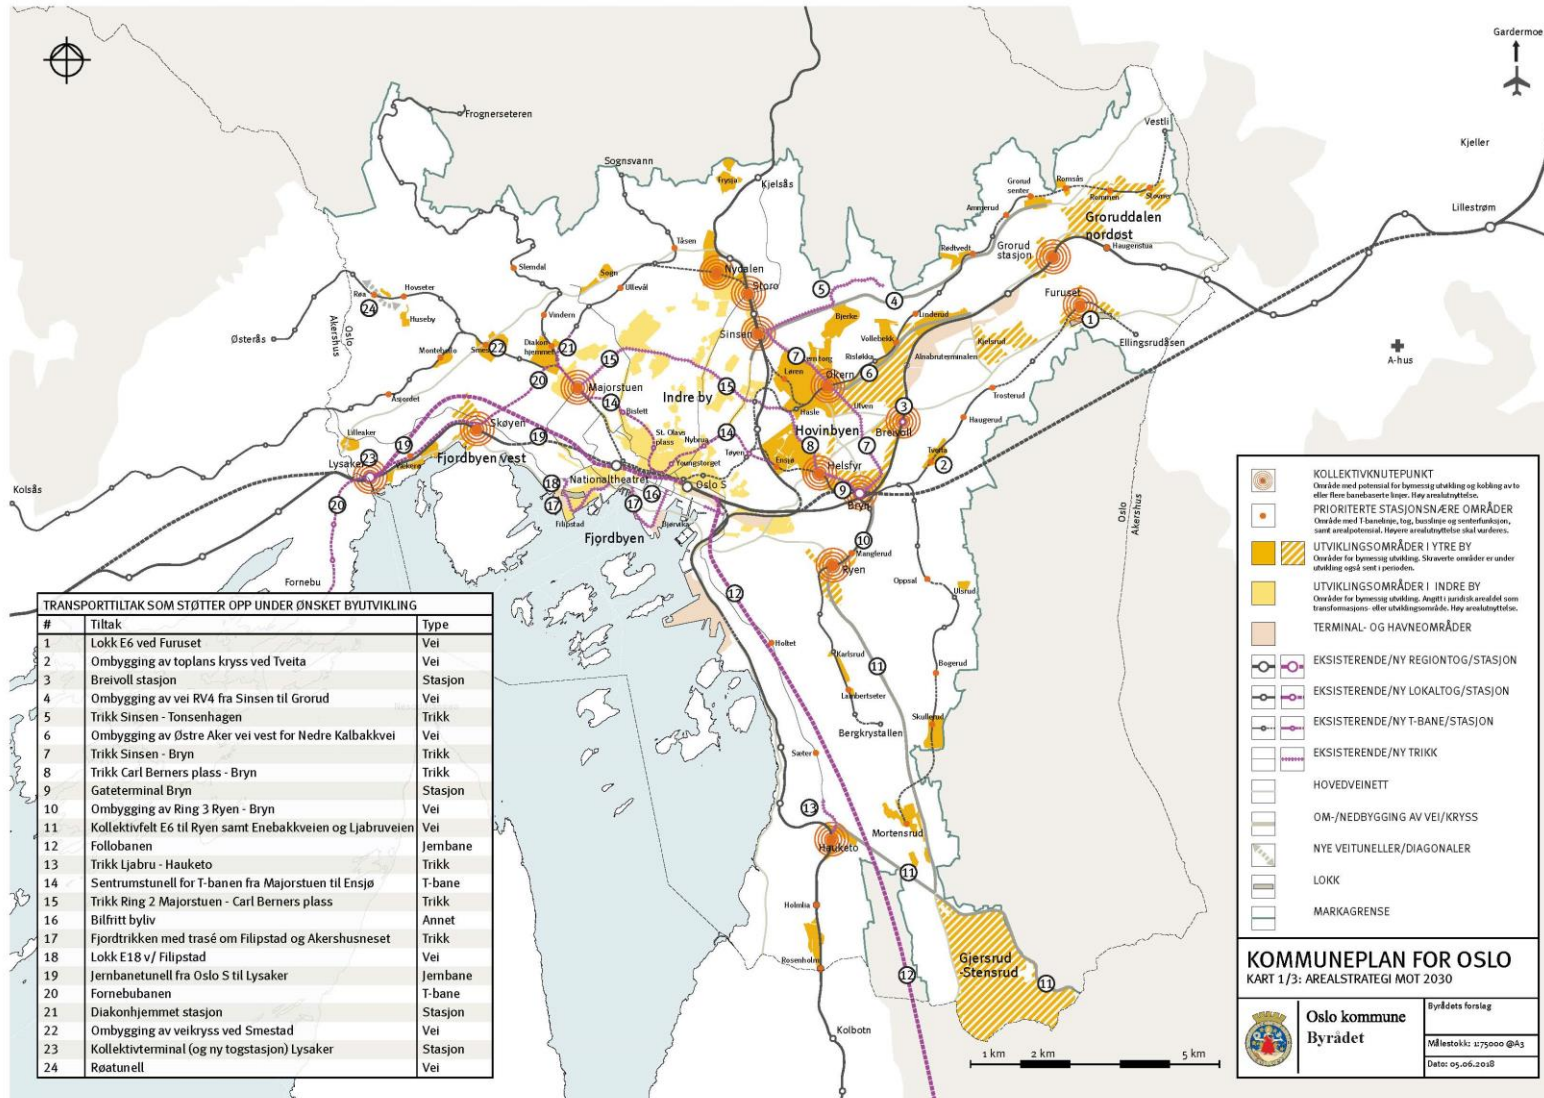

Traffic and market development: The comparison year is 2007, the year before Ruter – the organisation responsible for organising Oslo's public transport, was founded, and Oslo Package 3 also provided income for the running of public transport.

New metro projects

- ▶ Metro tunnel through the centre
- ▶ Metro to Fornebu (Akershus)
- ▶ Possible metro to Lørenskog (Akershus)
- ▶ In addition:
 - Transverse tram lines
 - Railway tunnel through the centre

Land use and transport strategy towards 2030

City of Oslo

Agency for Planning and Building Services

